Less remedies for faulty assessments

Madison Countyans are learning more about assessing than ever before, and enjoying it less, they indicated after a two-and-a-half-hour County Board meeting last night in which state, county and township property valuation procedures were reviewed.

No remedy will be available at tax bill time to owners of homes and buildings even where assessors have made obvious errors of judgment in valuing property higher than neighboring identical property, Assistant State's Attorney Donald Smith ruled in limiting the certificate-of-error correction process to arithmetic or computer mistakes.

And although Illinois laws do not require it, court approval — through action by the state's attorney's office and judges — will be sought in all instances of technical errors, Smith said. He acknowledged that frequently there may be only "a fine line" between what is an error and what is an opinion. Smith took the position that the 24 township assessors' opinions will stand, for better or worse, in nearly all cases — unless those responsible for real estate property taxes react fast enough each summer to obtain Board of Review hearings and possible adjustments.

This timing precedes tax bill receipt and collection by almost a year, it was noted.

Last night's discussion brought out problems in this regard, such as situations in which the volume of assessment complaints causes

WHEEL IN CATCH BASIN may have been a factor in flooding in the West Pontoon Road-Briarcliff Addition area this winter.

DUMPING OF DEBRIS on streets and adjacent areas is being practiced, rather than using the special mechanism to dump directly into trucks.

Assails caliber of sewer maintenance

A "ticking bomb" may await Granite Cityans in the form of clogged sewers, former Alderman Richard T. Fry charged today in letters to city officials. Its "detonator" would be spring rains, which he fears may lead to severe flooding compounded by a lack of sewer maintenance.

Blaming Street Superintendent Lionel Portell for what Fry regards as almost non-existent maintenance procedures and maintenance records on vehicles, equipment, sewers and catch basins, the former councilman alleged that an almost unbelievable degree of deterioration has occurred, some of it kept from citizens' eyes. Supt. Portell denies the allegations.

Fry said his concern over street flooding includes not only the problem of excess stormwater but also the fact that in many areas raw sewage becomes part of the overflow, creating a health problem and other negative aspects.

A bicycle wheel in a small wagon wheel appears to be blocking a catch basin and has caused flooding in the Briar cliff area, he contends. Fry also alleges: The only remaining truck capable of cleaning sumps in the sanitary sewage line between Washington Avenue and Iowa Street from 28th Street to Nameoki Road has been marked for sale and not replaced. It is one of numerous vehicles being sold that many attract no more than scrap prices. Some trucks are old, but even newer ones are wearing out.

One of the two closed-circuit TV sewer monitoring units is being "cannibalized" to keep the other one going, reducing the city's overall capability for underground sewer line monitoring and repair of breaks. Normal cleaning of unbroken sewers

Street-sewer work defended by Portell

Responding to criticism about the operation of the Granite City Street Department, Superintendent of Streets Lionel Portell told members of the Granite City Democratic Club last night, "If the street department is as bad as you just heard, there is no way I would work on that department. There are too many other jobs out there and I would find one."

Portell was one of seven candidates who addressed the club during one of its candidates' nights at the Knights of Columbus Hall.

His opponent for superintendent of streets, Clayton "Jug" Harrison, leveled a wide variety of charges against Portell, including the current poor condition of the streets and lack of the expansion project, citing the district's present financial crisis. School officials defend the new offices as necessary, since the district decided to self-insure for health and workmen's compensation claims. (Story on Page 26).

Dachshund is 'arrested'

By CATHEY JAMISON
Press-Record Staff Writer

Poor little thing. Branded a criminal at the tender age of about nine weeks. But those are the breaks. When you defy the law, there is a price to be paid.

"Catch Basin," the dachshund puppy, was arrested last week.

Having taken up residence in the storm sewer catch basin at 22nd Lincoln Ave. — and deciding he was in less than suitable living quarters — the puppy began making a lot of noise. Someone in the neighborhood, awakened by the yelping and howling, summoned police.

Officer James Reader, Granite City Police, was dispatched to the scene. Upon arrival, according to the official police report, "It was determined by officer that the noises were coming from the catch basin."

"Reader removed the cover and found one very small dog, appearing to be mostly dachshund, down inside the basin. Officer Reader transported said puppy to station, where he was promptly named Catch Basin. Puppy fed, watered, lodged."

Catch Basin was arrested and charged with Ordinance Number 6241790000, violation of occupancy permit.

Reader declined to charge the puppy with attempting to elude an officer, even though the animal did run.

He also declined to charge Catch Basin with refusing to obey an officer when the puppy would not stay in the back seat of the squad car. The pup

Tax loss—'devastating'

"It's devastating," Granite City School Supt. B. J. Davis said Wednesday afternoon following that day's Illinois Supreme Court Ruling eliminating the corporate personal property tax after the 1978 tax year (1979 collection).

The ruling is being interpreted by the Illinois General Assembly as giving it until about April 1 to enact a replacement tax — a chore required of legislators by the 1970 Illinois Constitution provision that the corporate personal tax was to be replaced by Jan. 1, 1979.

Unless there is a replacement tax, of a similar total amount and generally on corporate and business taxpayers, corporate and business taxpayers, school systems and other local-level governmental agencies may lose a major fraction of their fund sources.

Supt. Davis said the School District Nine assessment base includes about $73 million in corporate personal property, an amount that provides about $2,700,000 in school taxes here annually.

Other Quad-City taxing agencies also are affected by the court ruling, which requires collection this spring for the 1978 worth of corporate personal property.

Legislative leaders and the governor are pondering what specific replacement taxes to propose. A combination of taxes was discussed but not adopted last year.

The taxing cycle usually is conducted in the April-May period, and later action than this month might jeopardize 1979 year (1980 collection) taxes, authorities say.

The high court said the constitution cannot force a specific new tax, although there is a continuing mandate to comply. But it can and has halted the personal tax, justices said.

Cargo airport-GC trade zone link

A $75 million cargo airport proposal at Columbia-Waterloo, Ill., announced Wednesday, would have a "synergistic" effect with the new Foreign Trade Zone in Granite City, the St. Louis Metropolitan Area Authority is convinced.

A spokesman told the Press-Record that the proposed cargo airport — which is getting a mixed reaction from

St. Louisans who have opposed a major passenger airport at Columbia-Waterloo — would "tie in with, and assure optimum use of the new free trade zone scheduled to be opened later this year."

A briefing document was issued in connection with explanations about developing a hub air cargo airport at the Illinois site. It asserts that:

"The site has the potential to serve needs specifically identified by the Flying Tiger Lines, the nation's largest bulk air freight carrier."

"Federal Express, the nation's largest package air freight carrier, also has shown interest."

"It should be emphasized that Flying Tiger is considering various locations, and Federal Express is looking to the date when the Memphis airport cannot serve its needs."

"The explorations were begun at the suggestion of representatives of the St. Louis business community. Development of an air cargo facility at Columbia-Waterloo would prolong the life of Lambert Airport as the St. Louis

Larger computer ordered

Arrangements have been completed at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville for a new lease agreement for computer equipment. President Kenneth A. Shaw said an existing lease-purchase agreement between the university and the SIUE Foundation for an IBM 370-135 computer system will be terminated, and the university will enter a new lease agreement with area banks for a used IBM 370-145 system.

The system being obtained from Itel, Inc., of Delaware has a greater memory capacity, is faster, and can be leased for approximately the same annual cost as the present system. Dr. Shaw said the university needs a system with greater capacity because new data base information systems, such as the student information system, are being developed. Arrangements have been

Honored in Germany

Army Private Craig Alan Skinner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Skinner of Mitchell, has won 82nd Engineer Battalion "soldier of the month" honors for March.

The local serviceman is in radio communications work with the battalion at Baumberg, West Germany. Lieutenant Colonel Gerald C. Brown, commanding officer, and Battalion Sergeant Major David W. Bruce informed Mr. and Mrs. Skinner by letter of details connected with his selection.

"To achieve this distinction," the officer wrote, "Craig had to be selected by his unit first sergeant and company commander as the individual best qualified to represent his company. This alone is a great honor."

"Craig then appeared before a Soldier of the Month Board consisting of the sergeant major and five company first sergeants.

"During the board proceedings, he was required to display his competence in comparison with nominees chosen from four other companies and was graded on his appearance, courtesy, military knowledge and other soldierly qualities.

"Both Craig and you have every reason to be proud of his accomplishment. Many hours of his off-duty hours had to be spent studying cleaning equipment and keeping abreast of world events to achieve this distinction.

"This selection means he

is one of the very best soldiers in the battalion. "In recognition of his efforts, he has been awarded a trophy, a certificate of achievement and a four-day pass."

"In addition, he won the right to compete with other winners, selected for Battalion Soldier of the Quarter.

"It is a great pleasure to have an outstanding soldier like Craig in the 82nd Battalion."

Pvt. Skinner, 19, joined the Army last June and completed basic and advanced individual training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. He graduated at Fort Wood in September and was assigned to Germany shortly thereafter.

Mr. and Mrs. Skinner are planning to visit their son in Baumberg during the early summer.

In her new position, she is responsible for all procurement activities of the Tulsa District except those pertaining to the acquisition of real estate. She serves as chairman of the Board of Contract Awards and administers the district's activities in connection with the Small Business Program.

Joining the St. Louis District in 1961, she was assigned to the Construction Division, transferring later to Procurement and Supply.

SIU bylaws are amended

Bylaws and statutes of the Southern Illinois University Board of Trustees were formally amended by the board last week to implement changes approved by the board Feb. 8 in the governing administrative structure of the university.

The new structure provides that the chief executive officer of the SIU system is designated the chancellor. The president is the chief executive officer of the respective universities, reporting to the chancellor and though him to the Board of Trustees.

The position of general secretary is abolished, as well as the System Council, composed of the secretary and two presidents.

The bylaws describe the organization, procedures and functions of the board, and the statutes describe the structure and procedures of the internal operating organization of SIU. Board officers said the revisions in their opinion were necessary to accommodate proper handling of board business under the new structure.

'Death and dying' course will begin

As was announced last week, the School of Humanities at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will offer a course by newspaper during the spring quarter.

The Press-Record is among six area papers participating in the educational program.

The undergraduate course, Death and Dying: Challenge and Change (HUN 400), consists of 15 weekly newspaper articles for study at home and regularly scheduled on-campus class sessions, supported with textbooks, films and other classroom materials.

Charles Corr, professor of philosophical studies at SIUE, will teach the course. He spent last summer at a hospice in Sheffield, England, gathering data for a research project on death and dying.

The newspaper articles will appear in the Press-Record weekly, beginning the week of March 19.

The series is aimed at serving three basic reading audiences — readers whose interests are captured by the articles, people who wish to explore the subject in depth, and those seeking college credit for the course.

The articles analyze the impact of complex social change on death. Among the scholars who probe mortality, recent changes in the manner of death — and the personal and social dilemmas posed by the changes — are psychologists, sociologists, and medical professionals. Combining history and recent research findings, the authors offer insight on such little-discussed issues as grief, euthanasia, suicide, life and death, the dying patient, widowhood and the impact of a potential world holocaust.

Individuals who wish to enroll in the course for credit must be admitted to the university through regular channels.

Academic credit, ranging from two to four quarter hours, may be earned for satisfactorily completing the coursework. In-state tuition and fees total $87.50.

Individuals who would like to gain indepth knowledge of the subject of death and dying, but who do not want academic credit, may enroll in the course for non-credit.

Non-credit registration is $15 and may be accomplished through the SIUE Office of Conferences and Institutes.

Students taking the course for non-credit will also attend class sessions. Because the course is open for non-credit, it will not be accessible through the Education Program.

Textbooks will be available through the university bookstore for both credit and non-credit students.

The book, a combined reading and study guide, contains a collection of readings relating to the individual article topics.

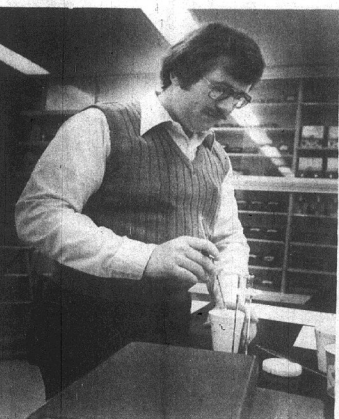

Death and Dying:

Challenge and Change is part of the Courses by Newspaper program developed by the University of California at San Diego in 1973, and is funded by the National Endowment for the Humanities. The course is one of 10 educational features prepared by the program.

Courses have been offered by more than 1,100 newspapers, having a combined circulation of approximately 25 million readers, and more than 700 educational institutions.

An estimated 45,000 newspaper readers have earned college credit through the program.

Additional information concerning the newspaper course may be obtained from Juanita Gosch, coordinator, Office of Conferences and Institutes, by telephoning 692-2660.

More student grants likely

A large increase in grant money may be available to students attending Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville for the 1979-80 academic year.

John Jennetten, director of Student Work and Financial Assistance, said the additional funding would occur in Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants (SEOG) availability and in the College Work-Study Program, based on tentative funding levels released by the U.S. Office of Education.

The tentative funding levels indicate monies for students receiving SEOG assistance for the first time may be increased by 64 percent.

Funding for the initial grants during the 1979-80 academic year would total $150,500, raising the amount of grant dollars available to SIUE students from the $91,546 figure during the 1978-79 academic year.

Allocations to students continuing with the grant after the first year would amount to $244,731, indicating an increase of more than 300 percent over last year's funds, Jennetten said. Only $55,056 in SEOG awards were available for continuing grant recipients at SIUE during 1978-79.

Funds representing the federal share of support for the College Work-Study Program would be increased by 20 percent, raising the sum of grant monies from $332,703 last year to an anticipated $400,000 for the coming year.

allocations have been determined by a new allocation process based on data submitted to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare by the university.

Final funding levels will be announced later this spring. However, Jennetten has been advised that final allocations should closely resemble the tentative levels indicated.

Students who have previously applied for SEOGs and were given loans instead are being encouraged to reapply for the grants. "They were given loans because that is all we had at the time," Jennetten commented.

Deadline for students applying for financial assistance at SIUE for next year is May 1, 1979. Applications are available in the Office of Student Work and Financial Assistance, Room 2308 of the John S. Rendleman Building.

Miss Schieb earns scouting award

Two million, seven hundred thousand girls and adults working together as Girl Scouts are celebrating the 67th anniversary of the Girl Scout movement this week. Closer to home, Granite City's Miss Karen Schieb was awarded her 25-year pin in scouting pin from Mrs. Judy Stille, a former leader of Miss Schieb.

Miss Schieb became a Brownie scout 25 years ago. She was in Mrs. Stille's Brownie, Intermediate and Senior Mariner troops until her graduation from high school.

Brownie troop until becoming a leader of her own Junior Scout troop.

For two years, she also served as district cookie chairman. She earned the first God and Community Award of the Girl Scouts at St. John United Church of Christ.

Girl Scouting has been a way of life for the Schieb family, totaling a combined 120 years between father, mother, three daughters and a granddaughter.

Barge fleeing rules set here

An ordinance controlling fleeing of barges in the Tri-City Regional Port was approved by the port board at a meeting Monday night.

The ordinance requires that barge towing companies which bring a barge or a group of barges into the port keep a towboat with the barges or contract to have another towboat responsible for the barges while in the port.

"We have had too much damage from barges which are not secured properly and have broken loose from the docks," Port Manager Carl Ranft explained.

He said towboats which bring barges into the port now may wait while the barges are loaded or unloaded, or may turn the barges over to the port's 24-hour towing service to be docked and secured.

Fleeing services bringing barges into the port must show proof of adequate insurance to protect against lawsuits and must free the port district of responsibilities for the service's operation in the harbor.

The ordinance also gives the port district the authority to declare certain barges dangerous to navigation or public safety, if the barges show signs they may sink or rupture. Written notice will be given the owner of the unsafe barges ordering them moved from the port within 24 hours.

Failure to remove unsafe barges can result in the port district's fleeing service removing the barges, at the owner's expense.

A $500 fine is set for each violation of the ordinance.

with each day of non-compliance considered a separate offense.

In other business, the board agreed to seek bids on annual maintenance of the railroad tracks at the port, rather than contracting for individual repairs when necessary.

There are approximately seven miles of rail tracks in the port.

The port manager informed the board that the barge Beauregard, which is the pump barge for the liquid terminal, is broken beyond repair and must be replaced.

He said he is contacting the district's bonding agent to determine legally how to replace the barge while protecting the interest of the holdres of bonds used to construct the liquid terminal.

Ranft also reported that legislation has been introduced in the Illinois Senate which would increase the ceiling on the amount of interest that can be charged for tax-free bonds from eight to 10 percent.

The district is experiencing difficulty in selling bonds to finance a $1.34 million office and warehouse complex for Foreign Trade Zone 31 here. Increasing the interest rate will aid in selling the port bonds, Ranft said.

No hearings or actions on the legislation have yet been set.

The board recognized four new companies which will be welcomed to the Quad-City business community by the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce during a dinner honoring new businesses March 26 at Charlie's Restaurant.

Companies from the port to be recognized are Art's Fleetings Co.; Triple-T, Inc.; fertilizer terminal; J. S. Joseph pellet mill; and Charles Martin inspection and grading company, for which a new office building is being constructed.

Lindell and Kay Browning from Anderson, Ind., will lead youth revival services this weekend at the First Church of the Nazarene, 4701 Highway 111.

All are welcome to attend any of the revival programs, the Rev. William H. Roddy, pastor, said.

Mrs. Browning is the former Kay Embick of Granite City.

The Brownings have been appointed as Nazarene missionaries to the Middle East and will be leaving shortly to take up their new posts.

Youth Revival services are scheduled Friday and Saturday at 7:30 p.m., and Sunday at 10:30 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Emphasize prison staff-inmate safety

Improved conditions to help insure safety of staff and inmates at Illinois prisons is the chief goal of Governor James R. Thompson's $173.5 million 1979-80 fiscal year budget request for the Department of Corrections.

"In a year in which every budget dollar must count," Thompson said, "the greatest improvements in Corrections will be realized in our adult institutions."

Construction of new 750-bed prisons at Hillsboro and Centralia are on schedule for opening in calendar year 1980. This will alleviate the crowding in the department's institutions that began in 1976, he said.

To end crowding, the state administration has supported the addition of 2,700 new beds in the state's prison capacity since 1977-78.

In addition to the Hillsboro and Centralia additions totaling 1,500 beds, the 750-bed Logan Correctional Center opened in 1977-78, 100-bed expansions at Dwight and Sheridan Correctional Centers will be finished this spring and a 250-bed medium security unit will be completed in the July 1979-June 1980 fiscal year.

"These new facilities will give the Department of Corrections the capacity to handle projected inmate population growth through 1980-81, when inmates are expected to total 11,400," the governor said.

In FY 79, he said, 692 correctional officer positions are being added, with another 144 requested in FY 80.

Concentrating on bringing the Stateville Correctional Center near Joliet into line with its maximum security mission, he has recommended $10.9 million in funds to build new residential units to house inmates in groups of 25 to 50, compared to present roundhouse capacities of 244 prisoners.

"We're going to do more here than just improve living conditions," Thompson said. "Our goal is to provide maximum security for inmates who, without it, are constantly able to disrupt the operations of this institution."

"I do not intend that after we expended our energies on shaking down Stateville for weapons, narcotics and other contraband—we just turn the institution back to its inmates another day."

In addition to the smaller unit additions, the locking system of one Stateville roundhouse cellblock will be replaced at a cost of $1.4 million to improve security.

CHARGED IN CRASH WITH PARKED AUTOS

John Kite, 17, of 3612 Kirkpatrick Homes, was arrested for disorderly conduct, no driver license and no valid registration after his car allegedly struck two parked autos belonging to Hershel Head, 2921 Marshall Ave., and George Gifford, 2922 Marshall, during the weekend.

After the accident, he and two juvenile boys allegedly ran from the auto owned by Donna Ryan and were caught a few minutes later by police. Mrs. Ryan was arrested for permitting an unlicensed driver to operate her car. One of the boys was treated for a minor head injury at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Pack 47 holds annual dinner

Engelbert Hall was the setting for St. Mary's of Madison Pack 47's annual blue and gold banquet. The hall was appropriately decorated in blue and gold streamers and with cupcake candles and miniature cub scouts made of bread dough decorating the tables.

The program opened with the Webelos Vincent Foley, Jimmy Harper, David Gushier and Mike Mainbridge presenting the colors followed by the pledge to the flag recited by all.

Assistant Cubmaster Eugene Coerver, as master of ceremonies, introduced guests Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Luebben and their son and daughter and grandson. Father Conrad Motola gave the invocation prior to dinner served to 74 parents and scouts.

Webelos Leader Jim Miller introduced all at the main table, which included Committee Chairman Paula Ballew, Scouting Coordinator Bob Noud, Charter Executive Officer and Youth Coordinator for St. Mary's Father Conrad Motola, a Mary's pastor, Father Ralph Scherrer, and the guests Mr. and Mrs. Luebben and family. Luebben gave a talk about the history of Cub Scouting.

Year pin recipients were announced by Jim Miller and presented by Coerver and Noud to Vincent Foley, a one year pin; Paula Ballew, a four year pin; and Lucille Broadway, a five year pin. Bob Noud was given special recognition for his thirteen years in scouting and a special award plaque was presented to Father Conrad Motola for his work with the scouts and other youth of the parish. Jim Miller was then presented a floral arrangement by the pack.

Father Scherrer spoke about the dedication of service in scouting.

Entertainment was provided by the Kahok Indian Dancers from Collinsville, and as the group performed the leader told the story relating to the dance.

Closing prayer was by Father Motola.

DOING THINGS TOGETHER

is common between sisters and the two pictured above have carried that togetherness a bit farther than most. The young matrons became mothers within a day of each other. Mrs. Herman (Kathy) Weissenborn Jr. (right) brought little Matthew Paul into the world on March 3 and her Mrs. Larry (Evelyn) Harris, followed suit the next day by giving birth to Andrew Michael. Both baby boys seem to be happy about the situation, although Andrew is a little less vocal.

Sabo announces his candidacy

Kevin Sabo, 17, has announced his intention to run for the office of president of the National Explorer President Association at the group's meeting in April at Washington, D.C.

Sabo spoke to the Breakfast Kiwanis meeting, held in The Pie Cupboard restaurant.

A senior at Granite City High School South, he was elected last month as one of the 28 area Explorer chairmen within the United States.

He explained that Exploring is divided into geographic areas — districts, counties, areas and regions.

Sabo is chairman of Area Three — Missouri, Kansas, Southern Illinois and part of eastern Iowa.

He is past president of Explorer Post 10-33, sponsored by Granite City Police, and is the immediate past chairman of the Cahokia Mound Council Explorer Presidents.

At the Breakfast Kiwanis meeting, the speaker outlined special interest groups in Exploring, such as medical, law, aviation, construction, computer science and law enforcement.

Sabo was introduced last week to the Granite City Council by Officer Friendly (Fred Hoffman), adviser of Post 10-33.

Sabo thanked the council and the police committee in particular for sponsoring Post 10-33 and allowing him to gain the experience and positions he has attained.

Members of Post 10-33 also attended the City Council meeting.

FAKE PICKUP TRUCK

The fake 1971 Ford pickup truck of Ron Wiggins, 2412 Adams St., was stolen from the parking lot of Sambo's Restaurant, 3865 N. Main St., last week. The truck has yellow lights on the cab, snow tires on the rear wheels and a spare tire in the bed. It also has burned out tail lights on the right side.

A festival of events

In observance of National Girl Scout Week, area girls took part in a day-long festival during the weekend, held in Alton.

Granite City was well represented, with Girl Scouts presenting shows which included crafts, a mini production of some of the dance numbers from "Grease," and a play.

The day was one of fun for the girls and those who attended. There were plenty of people on hand to tell folks about scouting. You didn't need much in the way of information, though. You could tell by the faces of the hundreds of Girl Scouts what they thought of the whole idea — scouting is fun.

Big slash in road spending

Governor James R. Thompson's $2 billion budget proposal for the Illinois Department of Transportation includes a $364 million road building program — less than half the amount of recent years.

Thompson says, "The $364 million road program and overall transportation budget reflect only what we can do with the current revenue levels, which have been the same for 10 years."

"Of course, favorable action from the Illinois General Assembly on highway proposals which I detailed earlier would mean a substantial increase in what could be accomplished."

"Provisions could give Illinois a road improvement program of up to $870 million during the upcoming fiscal year alone. This would be greatly reduce the backlog of deteriorated roads and bridges, as well as provide for much-needed new construction on some of our supplemental freeway routes."

Continuing with present highway financing levels, he said, during Fiscal Year 1980, (July 1979-June 1980) would mean:

1. Snow removal and needed pothole patching would be reduced.

2. Only 230 miles of a 3,000-mile backlog of rough roads could be repaired.

3. Only 90 of the 200 deficient bridges could be repaired or replaced.

4. Supplemental freeway work would have to be deferred so that limited resources could be used just for high-priority repairs.

5. One of the remaining major interstates, Interstate 270, would take 10 years to complete because of lack of matching funds, instead of just several years with the funds.

Elements of the state transportation budget which, Thompson said, do not rely heavily or at all on highway user revenues are:

A. Public transportation. $282 million in operating assistance and $238 million in capital assistance for the Regional Transportation Authority and Downstate public transit carriers.

B. Airports. $50 million for improvements at local airports such as runways, parking lot and taxiways.

C. Railroads. $20.6 million for continued support of intercity rail passenger service and capital improvements as well as assistance for rail freight programs.

D. Water resources. $11.2 million for construction related to flood control, a continuing dam safety inspection program, floodplain management and local assistance.

E. Construction supervision and administration.

Administrative belt-tightening adoption of Governor's Cost Control Task Force recommendations to reduce expenses as much as possible.

F. Highway Safety. $17 million for emergency medical care equipment and training, roadside safety improvements, traffic law enforcement and railroad crossing improvements.

ST. PAT'S PARTY which served as the kickoff for the campaign of Donald Patrick, a candidate for Pontoon Beach Village Board president, and of the Pontoon Progress Party. From the left are Norma Baker and Ruth Abney.

Progress Party points to Pontoon Beach spending

Candidates, officers and party workers of the Pontoon Progress Party held an official campaign kickoff with a St. Patrick's Day party Tuesday evening.

The party is running Donald D. Patrick for village president, Wilma Bowen for village clerk and Richard G. McIntosh, David L. Johnson and Dean "Doc" Rochester for village trustees in the April 17 Pontoon Beach election.

Patrick was presented a large Irish shamrock and then spoke to the party of officers and workers.

"We are proud of our ticket," he said. "We are better qualified than our opponents. We are all active in Pontoon Beach community affairs and have all held elected positions as chairman, president, secretary or treasurer of clubs, committees, PTAs and incorporated bodies that function similar to the village board. We have proven records of professional ethics, management experience and leadership abilities."

"None of the Progress Party candidates are related to one another," Patrick continued.

"My opponent is the cousin of a trustee candidate and the cousin-in-law of another trustee candidate on the Continued Community Development Party ticket."

"My opponent also is the brother of the current Pontoon Beach chief of police. Village government belongs to all the people of Pontoon Beach, not one family, machine or group of friends."

"For the first time in six years, we are giving the people of Pontoon Beach a choice at election time. The incumbents have not had an opposition ticket in the last two Pontoon Beach elections."

"None of our candidates will become part-time village employees when elected," Patrick promised.

"The current village clerk has been on the payroll as a part-time police department radio dispatcher for the last six months," Patrick alleged.

"My opponent, who is a good and decent man and friend, is asking citizens to elect him as our village leader. He has, however, resigned from the village board two separate occasions since being elected a trustee in 1973. What guarantee do we have that he won't resign as village president?"

"If my opponent wins, he will have to resign his present trustee position. He will then be able to appoint his successor. Will it be the current village president who is retiring from his office?" The current president said he did not want to run for village president but said, "I want to stay active in the government of Pontoon Beach," when he announced his support for his opponent.

"The village board hired a St. Louis consultant firm six months before the election. The firm has recommended that the village intentionally go into debt of at least $525,000 to become eligible for federal grants. It also has recommended that the board place backdoor referendum taxes on the people of Pontoon Beach."

"The village board has since purchased a tract of land for $50,000. The road program will spend $100,000. And at least $6,500 will go to the consulting firm, with more to come."

"The current board has had a terrible record of meetings without a quorum. When they do have a quorum, they have held numerous meetings of five to 10 minutes in length."

"These are the issues the taxpayers people must address themselves to. Do we want the same continued non-representative government or do we want change? Do we want change with leadership and progress? Progress towards a village government and town that can look upon themselves with dignity and pride?"

"The people of Pontoon Beach are honest, hard working people. They deserve better representation, a better government, and a better town than they are getting," Patrick concluded.

GRANITE CITY COMMUNITY UNIT SCHOOL DISTRICT NUMBER NINE

More students immunized
—but total still not enough

Gains have been achieved in the percentage of children entering school who are fully immunized against polio, diphtheria, tetanus, pertussis (whooping cough), measles, rubella and mumps, according to State Superintendent of Education Joseph M. Cronin.

A statewide survey shows the percentage of children fully protected against polio increased by 14.2 percent over 1977-78 to 67.5 percent, while children fully protected against the DPT group rose to 77.3 percent, up 14.4 percent. Current levels of protection against measles, rubella and mumps rose by 13, 15 and 14 percent, respectively.

The percentage of children entering school for the first time who were fully protected against measles was 86.0 percent, while 83.7 percent were fully protected against rubella and 74.3 percent against mumps.

However, Dr. Cronin points out that "while immunization levels significantly increased during 1978-79, there was not a single disease category where immunity reached recommended, minimum levels."

The Illinois Department of Public Health estimates that 90 percent of Illinois school children should be immunized in each disease category in order to prevent epidemics.

$1,134 SHOPLIFTING

Three cameras and two camera lenses, valued at a total of $1,134, were stolen from Di-Cor Photo, 1907 Delmar Ave., about 12:50 p.m. Tuesday. A couple was in the store and the woman was inquiring about purchasing one camera while the man looked around other areas of the store. They left, saying they would cash a check at a bank and would return. They did not return, and the owner noticed the cameras and lenses had been taken from a display case.

Paul F. Sodko, treasurer, Madison County Federal Savings and Loan Association, has been appointed chairman of the Tri-Cities Area United Way Budget and Allocations Committee for 1979 by TCAUW President Paul J. Costello.

A United Way campaign solicitor and unit chairman for several years, Sodko is a member of the Granite City Rotary Club and currently serves as District 10 (Illinois-Missouri-Kansas) governor of the Financial Managers Society for Savings Institutions.

"His financial and management experience can be an important element in continuing the high quality of UW volunteer service," Costello said.

"Coupled with his insight and knowledge of private human service programs, his volunteer service will be beneficial to United Way givers and those who are recipients of the programs and services."

The committee is responsible for developing an effective system of deploying resources to meet community needs. It maintains continuing liaison with the agencies, aiding them in the improvement of internal management, program activities and accountability.

It reviews annual budgets and programs of UW-funded agencies and establishes annual allocation recommendations to the United Way board.

Along with the Priorities Committee, it reviews applications for new agency or new program funding and reports its findings.

Continuing agency budgets and funding requests for 1980 will be due at the United Way office here on April 20.

Forms consistent with requirements of current national standards of accounting and financial reporting for voluntary health and welfare organizations — have been provided to each agency.

Morris cites job growth needs

Expanded job opportunities will be a major goal if he is elected mayor of Venice in April. Milton M. Morris is telling voters as the campaign progresses.

"He comments, 'April 17, will be a day of decision for the people of Venice. On that day, the voters will cast their votes for a mayor who will be the leader of this community. The type of leader picked will shape the future of this city. Being approached by a number of citizens who had a fear of what this future might be, I agreed to place my name as a candidate. This was not a natural decision for me, as I had never been politically inclined."

"My business, now 30 years old, has been very successful. The Milnor Manufacturing Co., 1300 McKinley Ave., Venice, a steel fabricating operation, makes equipment used by the construction industry and steel mills."

"This business experience should carry over into the operation of the city. I feel the city should be operated as a business."

"The city has many problems that have been building up over the past six years. To solve these problems, it will take a cooperative City Council and the cooperative citizenry. With the cooperation of the people, city leaders can with intelligence and energy raise this city to new heights. To this effort, I pledge myself."

"Jobs are always a critical problem in any city. Permanent industrial jobs are the answer."

"To use federal government resources to train our unemployed in vocational and on the job training is a useful tool. This effort should be considered temporary help to accomplish the big goal of trained people on permanent industrial jobs."

"To accomplish these industrial job goals will really be a three-pronged approach—

"To develop the skills and mental attitudes of our labor force so that it is attractive to our present industries."

"To put our house in order — in the economics of our taxing bodies — and strengthen our family units through church, schools, and civic organizations to present a good community image in attracting outside industries to locate here."

"To develop small industries locally owned and staffed by Venice labor."

"This seems ambitious, and it is, but in our efforts to get this job done we must have more successes than failures," Morris says. "I need citizens' vote and then their help after election day. With God's help, together we can do this job."

is being largely ignored in order for other tasks to be done, magnifying the flooding concern."

Safety equipment required of mobile units, such as special lights, is being allowed to fail and to disappear from the vehicles."

When a new street sweeper was acquired, additional money was paid to make the unit capable of dumping trash directly into a truck. Instead, crews are dumping their loads into piles on streets and the valves in the engine of a 1976 pickup truck.

were used to do work at a local service company, prompting complaints from two unions."

"Salvaged materials from razed buildings are being used in home construction."

"The transmission failed on a 1977 snow plow truck in early January 1979. A street sweeper borrowed from the City of Madison has sustained damage. Use of inappropriate gasoline burned up the valves in the engine of a 1976 pickup truck."

Street-sewer

Good employees are not the problem, he said, noting, "Some of the best people you could find anywhere are on our street department."

Portell said he has always worked with the people of the city on beautification programs, in cleaning home sewers and in helping homeowners, whenever possible.

"My promise has been and will continue to be that we will do the best job we can with what we have to work with," he concluded.

Harrison also addressed the club, blaming a lack of cooperation by Portell with the mayor and the City Council for many of the problems. He accused Portell of using a $15,000 emergency appropriation given him by the city council for several tasks instead of exclusively for the filling of potholes and the picking up of tree limbs as intended.

He alleged the money was used for overtime for lift station workers, for a secretary, private sewer cleaning and "numerous other things."

Harrison said snow removal has been slow and that snow routes, especially, should be cleaned "no matter what day of the week or time of the day. They should be cleaned at the time the snow hits the deck."

He accused Portell of not having a preventive maintenance program for street department vehicles.

"The equipment has more 'down time' than 'up time' in Granite City," he stated.

He said the city spent an extra $5,000

Many lubrication and maintenance records don't exist, or cover only a brief period of time.

A storage shed has lacked lights for years, making it difficult — when there is a night call — to see to hook up snow plows and spreaders stored in the building.

Unsanitary conditions exist in an employee restroom and shower area. At a diesel fuel pump, electric service is run from an overhead light socket, with the wire spliced and taped, a condition continuing for months.

Gasoline pumps lack automatic nozzle shut-offs.

to get a street sweeper which has a lift to dump dirt it collects directly into a truck.

"The lift has been used only twice that I know of. I used to drive it. "We use the lift to make great big piles of debris and most people won't allow us to dump it any longer."

"We have only five dumping spots in the entire city, and since I sometimes picked up a hopper full for every block, you can imagine where I spent most of my time driving to and from the dumping spots," he stated.

Harrison cited a lack of "bubble lights" and safety equipment on street department vehicles, gasoline pumps without automatic shut-offs so that gasoline spills on the ground frequently, no lift bucket for men to trim tree limbs and a general lack of maintenance on sewers and catch basins.

Aldermanic candidates who spoke were Darmond Broyles of the Fifth Ward, Shirley Parnley speaking for her husband, incumbent Sixth Ward Alderman Gerald Parnley, Seventh Ward Alderman Ronald Coleman and two of his opponents George Gordon and Mike Modrusic.

Third Ward candidate Chris Von Nida also was allowed to speak, since family illness had prevented him from appearing at the club's last meeting where First, Second, Third and Fourth Ward candidates appeared.

A letter from Sixth Ward candidate Mac Warfield also was read by club president Ed "Dewey" Melton.

of dealing with the public, and was urged by County Board members to maintain compassion for assessment complaints.

The review board leader, a Granite City area attorney, said most complainants were pleased with their contacts with the three-member panel, but that in some cases the review board reacted negatively when an individual was repetitive and would not follow the board's explanations.

Barton outlined procedures, including a rate requirement policy of averaging the three most recent years in determining whether new assessments met the ideal of one-third of full cash value.

Specific arithmetic required creates erratic patterns and makes it impossible for an assessor to know precisely how to set valuations at one-third and simultaneously avoid a township multiplier, the standing room-only gathering was told.

Allan Lura accused the County Board of whitewashing the assessment issue and said nine small-population townships had insufficient property taxes to provide the review board with adequate information to justify multipliers. He conceded that township multipliers are superior to a single county multiplier, which would raise high as well as low valuations.

Joyce Miller of Granite City defended county officials and praised their performance.

No board members proposed any action against Barton, who is the target of some citizens' criticism.

Most County Board members obtained answers to questions, and most of the gathering concluded that the meeting proved to be informative.

area's air carrier passenger airport. "Lambert is not under consideration for the air cargo installation."

"Development of an air cargo airport is within the scope of the Area Airport Authority's responsibilities," it has been ruled.

"Flying Tiger has decided to relocate its cargo hub due to inadequate room for expansion. "Federal Express is considering relocation of its Memphis hub due to marginal room for expansion."

"Neither airline is considering Lambert, since that airport is now fully utilized by passenger airlines, and cannot physically meet all operational criteria."

"Both Flying Tiger and Federal Express have expressed intense interest in Columbia-Waterloo as a new hub site competition with other potential sites."

"The Columbia-Waterloo site has an opportunity to become the air cargo center of the U.S.A., with access to the world."

"Air cargo service to St. Louis is inadequate."

"Deterioration of air cargo service was principally caused by advent of the wide body passenger aircraft."

"Air cargo on passenger aircraft must wait until passengers want to go."

"Modern businesses require overnight delivery of air cargo to remain competitive. This can best be provided by all-cargo aircraft. It is not now being provided at St. Louis by passenger-cargo aircraft."

"Scheduled air freight service is important in determining sites of manufacturing plants."

"A Commerce Department survey of 254 growth industries indicates that, in selection of manufacturing plant location:

"18 percent of companies require the availability of scheduled air freight service at plant location."

"An additional 27 percent of companies prefer the availability of scheduled air freight service at plant location."

"The entire St. Louis region would benefit from becoming the nation's air freight hub."

"The facility would place the hub of the U.S. air cargo system at the doorstep of St. Louis business, dramatically improving St. Louis air cargo service."

"The new air cargo system, combined with the new free trade zone, and this centralized rail relocation system, would give St. Louis the foremost intermodal transportation center in the country."

"Improved freight convenience would benefit industries in the region, increasing their growth potential. It would also attract new industries to the region."

"Freight hub would attract new warehousing activity, to take advantage of the opportunity for expedited nextday delivery throughout the country."

"Activity directly associated with air cargo airport would create thousands of new jobs, in a variety of occupations (e.g. flight crew basing; loading and ground handling of freight; aircraft fueling, servicing, and maintenance; accounting and clerical personnel; freight forwarders, customs brokers, and other support)."

"New jobs would also be created by indirect stimulation of construction and service industries, expanding in support of cargo operation."

"Direct and indirect activity of air cargo operation would substantially expand tax base."

"New transportation hubs have a cumulative growth process. Improved transportation encourages economic expansion, attracting still more transportation, encouraging still more economic expansion — in a favorable and continuing chain reaction."

"The Illinois area of metropolitan St. Louis is the only part of Illinois that has the potential for satisfying the location criteria for the new freight hub. Flying Tigers has already ruled out Chicago because of its congestion and its greater distance from the market's geographical 'center-of-gravity.'"

"New area, with much unemployment, has a particular need for the direct and indirect job stimulation the project would bring."

"Because of its size and prospect for continuing growth, this facility would offer a greater potential boost for the Southern Illinois economy than any other single project now foreseeable."

"The project would bring 'tremendous new activity' to the region, from other parts of the country. Freight operations of this magnitude do not presently exist in the region and can only be provided by a new all-cargo airport."

"This facility would tie in with, and assure optimum use of, the new Foreign Trade Zone that is scheduled to be opened in Granite City later this year."

"This opportunity is unique. The proposed operation will not be duplicated at various sites. The concept depends on maximum consolidation of inter-connecting flights. Therefore, a single, unduplicated facility is all that can be expected."

"The opportunity is immediate and non-recurring. A decision by Flying Tigers is expected this year. If the investment is once committed elsewhere, there will be no chance for subsequent relocation to Illinois."

"The total economic activity involved directly in the operation of such a freight hub, and indirectly in the attraction of new businesses, will be measured in hundreds of millions of dollars — to the benefit of the tax base of Illinois, as well as to its employment level, the Authority concludes."

rode most of the way to the station in Reader's lap, trying to dissuade the officer from his duty by licking his face. Although Reader liked the cute little culprit, he did not shirk his duty. Catch Basin went to jail.

The tiny dog escaped from the cell. The bars were just too far apart to hold him.

He was quickly recaptured and quartered in the police radio room under the watchful eyes of several officers.

Catch Basin was released late the same day to this reporter on the promise that the pup would be taught a better way to live.

Currently, Catch Basin is being rehabilitated under the supervision of two adults, two adoring little boys and one shaggy dog.

Tax loss

Madison County corporate personal property is assessed at a total of $225,441,880 for 1978 (1979 tax collection), compared to $204,440,145 in 1975, $207,053,055 in 1976 and $212,520,360 in 1977.

Supervisor of Assessment James Barton, addressing the Madison County Board last night, called attention to the court decision and said his staff has been actively trying to build the total in all legitimate ways, in order to assure that an appropriate target figure is set for whatever replacement tax is enacted.

TI TIRES CUT

Eleven tires on three cars in the Mitchell area were cut or slashed early this week.

Madison County sheriff's deputies received reports from John Singer, Florissant, Mo., of four slashed tires; John Baldetti of Missouri of one tire damaged, and Robin Smith, Rural Route Two, Granite City, of two slashed tires, all at Bolvard Lanes. Four tires, two each on the cars of Linda Williams, Wood River, and Gregory Landtzel, St. Louis, also were cut at the Fifteen Acres Restaurant in Mitchell, early this week.

Gabriel Shrine honors girls

Ruth Hartsoe, supreme shepherdess of the White Shrine of Jerusalem, was the guest of honor at a meeting last week of Gabriel Shrine 78, held at Masonic Temple.

Also honored during the evening session was Pauline Cox, worthy herald and all committee members. They all received gifts and Mrs. Cox was given a corsage by Mary Petrosian, worthy high priestess.

As this was the final meeting of the year for the current corps of officers, Mrs. Petrosian and Cleveland Cox, watchman of shepherds, submitted an annual report, and the auditing, by-laws, financial and paraphernalia committees gave a summation of the year.

After the meeting a betwix Valentine party was held in the dining room and refreshments were served.

Friends of Girl Scouting campaign set for March

March has been designated Friends of Girl Scouting month according to an announcement by the River Bluff Girl Scout Council. FOGS is a personal solicitation of prospective individuals who might wish to support Girl Scouting above and beyond their United Fund gift, the council said.

According to the most recent cost study, it costs the council $23 to maintain one girl in Girl Scouts for one year. This figure includes all of the services programs, and materials that directly and indirectly are returned to girls in each community. Included are maintaining a service center, supplying camp properties and equipment, special events and organizing and maintaining troops among many other services, officers of the council added.

The FOGS' goal for 1979 is $12,000 and is meant to supplement the council income. There are three target areas: council board and staff, Scout leaders and families, and friends in the community at large. We want to give everyone who believes in Girl Scouting an opportunity to support it. Although March is our target month, gifts are welcome all year long and are tax deductible, Rolland Perry, 1979 general chairman noted.

Most of our neighborhoods have neighborhood FOGS chairmen and many communities have community chairmen and enrollers. If you are contacted to help to solicit for FOGS or if you are asked to make a donation, I hope you will join me in an important council program on behalf of our girls, Perry said.

New Russian Orchestra Midwest debut at Powell

"Thank You, America" has been selected a theme by the members of the New Russian Orchestra as their expression of gratitude for finding political and artistic freedom in the United States, will make its Midwest debut in a benefit concert at 8 p.m. Thursday, April 5, in Powell Symphony Hall, 718 N. Grand Ave., St. Louis.

For some of the orchestra's members, emigration was short; for others, emigration was a long and painful process.

The group is composed of Jewish refugees from the Soviet Union's finest orchestras. The recent emigrants were first chair players with the Moscow Chamber Orchestra, Odessa Philharmonic and Leningrad Symphony.

Many of the virtuoso performers left the Soviet Union for political, ethnic and religious reasons.

Proceeds from the benefit concert will support the orchestra itself, with a portion earmarked for the St. Louis Central Metro Chapter of the American Cancer Society.

Works by Mozart, Bach and avant garde Soviet composers will highlight the New Russian Orchestra's program.

Tickets are priced at $10 and $20; all tickets are tax deductible.

Senator Henry Jackson and conductor Leonard Bernstein are national honorary chairmen of the orchestra.

Honorary Chairmen include the Rev. Paul C. Reinert, S.J., U.S. Representative Melvin Price, Paul Findley and Paul Simon, Senator John C. Danforth, James J. Eagan and Thomas Ernst.

Project directors for the St. Louis performance are: Ernst, Janis Grossman and Caroline Denon, all of St. Louis, and W. F. "Mick" Strange of Madison.

Benefit concert tickets are available by calling Strange at 876-2000 or writing the New Russian Orchestra, 7551 Teasdale, University City, Mo. 63130.

The performance will include: Mozart Symphony No. 29, A Major; Mozart Concerto No. 3, G Major; and the Tchaikovsky Serenade for Strings.

Ruling says state law leaves confusion, ambiguity on correcting valuation errors

Following is the text of a legal opinion by Donald L. Smith, assistant Madison County state's attorney and chief of that office's civil division, sent to the county clerk, county treasurer (collector), Board of Review and supervisor of assessments:

An opinion has been requested of this office as to the use of Certificates of Error pursuant to the Revenue Act. We have reviewed the Illinois Attorney General's Opinion F-1597 dated May 13, 1966 and the Attorney General's Opinion S-169 dated April 30, 1970, concerning the effect of Certificates of Error.

Certificates of Error may be issued under Sections 526 and 589(7) of Chapter 120, Illinois Revised Statutes. Section 526 authorizes the initiation of the Certificate of Error by a township assessor or the supervisor of assessments and Section 589(7) authorizes the initiation of Certificate of Error by the board of review.

A certificate issued by an assessor or supervisor of assessments, to be effective, must be endorsed and concurred in by the board of review, and a Certificate of Error issued by the board of review must be endorsed showing the concurrence of the assessor or supervisor of assessments for it to be effective.

It appears that prior to the 1967 Amendment to Section 589(7), that Certificates of Error were created for the sole purpose to be used as evidence in a court hearing as to any correction, but the 1967 Amendment to Section 589(7) provides:

"After the board of review has issued a certificate of error and it has been properly endorsed by the board of assessors, assessor or supervisor of assessments, two copies of such certificate of error shall be made and one copy given to the county clerk and one copy given to the collector."

"The county clerk shall keep records of the changes or corrections made in the certificate and certify such corrections to the collector so that he can account for the proper amount of taxes chargeable to him."

The question is whether this amendment authorizes the county clerk and collector to change or correct its records pursuant to a properly issued Certificate of Error without court action.

The Attorney General states in his opinion dated April 30, 1970, that the Amendment does not allow the collector or county clerk to amend the records to correct based upon certificates of Error with which we disagree.

The statutes as drafted and passed by the Legislature are confusing, but the intention of the Legislature appears to be clear that the 1967 Amendment to Section 589(7) was to avoid the necessity of court action by a taxpayer in order to change or correct the county clerk's records and the collector's records pursuant to a duly issued Certificate of Error.

The language in the Amendment specifies that the county clerk is to keep records of the changes or corrections pursuant to the Certificate and to certify these corrections to the collector so that he can account for taxes chargeable to him and this language would mean nothing if the Legislature did not intend the changes or corrections to be made both by the county clerk and the collector based upon the Certificate of Error.

Though the language of the involved statute is confusing, it is our opinion that the county clerk and the collector are authorized to make changes and corrections based upon all prior Certificates of Error initiated, processed and approved pursuant to the statutes.

It is emphasized that though it is our opinion that changes and corrections may be made by the county clerk and county collector pursuant to Certificates of Error, it is also our opinion as clearly specified in the statute, that such errors are errors and mistakes and cannot be errors of judgment as to the value of any real or personal property.

It is possible that a misunderstanding as to the use of Certificates of Error may have resulted in such certificates being issued in order to reduce judgments as to the value of real and personal property, and therefore, previously issued Certificates of Error must be reviewed and any such Certificates of Error so erroneously issued must be rescinded and the appropriate entries made by the county clerk and the county collector as to taxes not paid involving such erroneous certificates.

In addition, any Certificate of Error previously issued must have all necessary endorsements and certifications and set forth the nature of such error and the cause thereof which caused the error or mistake or be resubmitted in proper form or rescinded with appropriate corrections by the offices of the county clerk and collector.

In order to avoid any possibility of future difficulties as to the use of Certificates of Error based upon the confusing language of the statutes, it is recommended that the future use of Certificates of Error should be limited to the sole purpose of evidence in court proceedings and not for direct action by the county clerk and county collector until a court decision or action by the Legislature has corrected the confusion or ambiguity of the present statute concerning the use of the Certificates of Error.

night. Defensive end Ron Yankowski appears amused by Nelson's plight. Linebacker Steve Neils (53), far right, and running back Steve Jones, seated on the floor, take a break from the action.

Many winners in benefit game

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer
The Granite City Police and Fire Department basketball team may have lost Tuesday night's Officer Friendly basketball game to the Big Red Cardinal team here, but everyone who came for a good time left a winner.

It was a low-scoring game, partially because the Big Red players continued to be handcuffed by the cheerleaders, obstructions were placed in the Cardinal basket and other factors, but the Cardinals managed a 64 to 55 win over the Officer Friendly team, despite the "home court advantage," which was extensive.

Among the advantages of the home court were referees who made baskets for the Officer Friendly team, foul calls which resulted in up to three free throws per offense, and blinders which kept the referees from noticing such small factors as extra players on the court for the local team.

The "cheerleaders" who aided the plays, football-style blocks on the Cardinals by non-players, handcuffs and other "minor infractions" to the rules.

Still, there was no stopping the Cardinals. Perhaps Detective Roy Koberna, the former Officer Friendly, put it best before the game. Koberna recognized the Officer Friendly team has lost all three annual games it has played against the Big Red and concluded he felt this year's police and fire team, "is below par. It just isn't what it was when I had control of the team. It's gone straight downhill."

Despite tremendous odds, Chief of Police Ronald J. Veizer kept his optimism. "We're going to win by three points. Either that or all the players are going on the afternoon shift, an unpopular shift because there are so many supervisors on duty," Veizer stated.

Patrolman J. W. Apperson is still chewing on his pre-game words. "We're just going to play hard enough to beat them. We don't want to make them look bad. We might even let them edge ahead at the beginning," Apperson predicted.

The police and firemen did just that — let the Cardinals edge ahead at the beginning. Unfortunately, they never got the edge back. "It's too bad. It looked real good in the first three minutes, where there was no score," Chief Veizer concluded at halftime, seeing the "handwriting on the wall."

Even special guest player for the city team, former Cardinal safety James Michael Sensibaugh, could not get the momentum going for the police and firemen. Doubled-teamed by his former Cardinal teammates most of the game, Sensibaugh couldn't get close to the basket and the rest of the players who could get close couldn't sink the ball. If rimshots which just missed counted for one point each, the police and fire team may have carried off a big win.

Cardinals playing in the game included Jim Hart, Roger Wehrli, Carl Allen, Steve Jones, Lee Nelson, Doug Greene, Steve Neils, Mark Arneson, Keith Wortman, Mike Dawson, Ron Yankowski and George Amundsen. Bill Simmons, general manager of the Cardinal organization, served as coach of the Big Red team.

Policemen, firemen and ambulance personnel who played were Jerry Duncan, David Rosenberg, Greg Becker, Rick Schardan, Ed

Hagnauer, Courtney Renaux, Roy Koberna, Jim Brawley, Apperson, Kenneth Crawford, Ray Romine, Roger Hayes, Mike Merit, Don Petrillo and Officer Friendly Fred Hoffman.

Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler welcomed the spectators and the players and commented, "We probably have the finest fire and police departments in the state of Illinois. It is just as important to recognize them when they get out here and raise money for the boys and girls of our town as when they excel on duty."

Halftime entertainment was provided by the Steel City Belles Pom Pom squad and flag and rifle corps and by Explorer Post Six of Concordia Lutheran Church. The Explorers gave a presentation of traditional Indian dances.

Cheerleaders were George Andrews, Lynn Wilson, Bob Dawes, Jeff Parker and Mike Chosich.

After the game, the Cardinals graciously stayed to sign autographs for all the youngsters in the audience who requested them.

Asked about the outlook for next year's game, Fire Chief Don Parente summarized the feelings of many, stating, "If we couldn't beat them with six men on the floor, it doesn't look too good."

Ambulance bills worry Chouteau officials

Difficulties in collecting unpaid bills for ambulance bills in Chouteau Township were the main topic at the Chouteau Town Board of Trustees meeting Monday night.

Of special concern were bills for "repeat" patients who have failed to pay bills for more than one ambulance trip, leaving the township to pay.

Of $2,866 in unpaid bills from March to November last year, more than half — $1,584 — are for persons owing for more than one ambulance trip.

Under an agreement with Granite City, townships and other governmental units guarantee payment of ambulance bills in order to continue to receive ambulance service from the city's fire department.

Following Monday night's meeting, Chouteau Supervisor Walter Sparks requested written proposals from collection agencies which may receive a contract to collect the ambulance bills unpaid by township residents.

In other business, the board accepted a low bid of $2,264 from Audio Electronics of Wood River to supply a public address system, speakers and a cabinet for the township community center building.

Next stop for Madison: Assembly Hall, Champaign

By PETE HAYES

Sports Editor of the Press-Record
CHARLESTON — Fairfield High School basketball coach Bill Garrett stood in the dark hallway under Lantz Gym with a towel around his neck, leaning against the wall. Sweat ran from his brow. He was exhausted. But he wasn't downcast.

Garrett had just watched his Fairfield Mules become the 25th victims of the Madison Trojans 98-82 in the Charleston Class A (small school) Supersectional here Tuesday. "Boy, those guys can leap," said Garrett about Madison. "They're not bad shooters, either."

Understatement. Madison came from a 21-20 deficit after the first quarter to shoot a blazing 64 percent and coast home for the victory. The win for Madison means a return trip to the University of Illinois Assembly Hall in Champaign and a berth in the "Elite Eight." There are only eight Class A school remaining in the fight for the state crown and the Trojans are one of them.

Meanwhile in Carbondale, defending champion and second-ranked Nashville was upset Tuesday by Carrier Mills 50-48 at the SIU Supersectional (see related story).

Madison will play third-ranked (Associated Press) Havana Friday afternoon at 12:15 in the first game of the quarterfinals. Havana was the runner-up to state champion Nashville last season at Champaign.

Madison's Kenny Stanley, nursing a knee injury, pumped in 25 points to lead the Trojans' scoring. He was followed by teammates James Heard (23) and Morris Hughes (22) Fairfield guard Donnie Pike led all scorers with 26 points.

But the catalyst, according to Madison head coach Larry Graham was Trojan substitute guard Tyrone Echols. Heading into the second period trailing 21-20, Madison was being eaten up inside by the hot-shot little (5-6) Pike, who showed no fear of the highly-touted Trojans.

Graham inserted Echols into the lineup to see what he could do with Pike. He did plenty. Echols managed to partially shut off the fiery little Fairfield player in the second period while his Trojan teammates were doing a four-alarm number on the rest of the team.

Behind the hot hand of Stanley, the defensive skill of James Heard and an improved rebounding game, Madison out-scored Fairfield 32-16 in the second quarter to take a 52-37 halftime lead.

"The second quarter was the key," said Graham. "But the key to the second quarter, in my mind was Echols. "He played just about his best game of the year tonight. He's starting to play with more confidence."

That new-found confidence, according to Graham, got its start in the Freeburg Regional championship game two weeks ago against Venice. "Before then we were awfully worried about Venice. Beating them gave us the confidence to gain momentum and helped get us this far."

Kenny Stanley wore a product of the Sectional triumph over Vandalla last Friday, a bandage on his right knee. "He really banged his knee up," said Graham. "I wanted to get him out of there as soon as I could tonight, so as not to take the risk of hurting it more."

Graham described the injury. It looked as if Graham was going to get his wish. After taking that large halftime lead, the Trojans kept the lead about the same size. But Fairfield would not lay down for the count. The Mules came back to within 59-49 on a series of steals and gummy plays by — you guessed it — Pike.

In fact, Fairfield scored eight straight points on Madison in order to get within ten. The Trojans took a 59-41 lead at the 6:29 mark when Heard hit a jumper from the free throw line. Then it was time for the "Kent and Donnie Show."

(Donnie) Pike and (Kent) Taylor single-handily brought Fairfield back. At the 6:17 mark, Taylor (a 6-2 forward) drove to the middle of the lane and put up a fade-away jumper. Then Pike stole the ball from Heard and drove the length of the floor for a layup.

Players: 'We're ready now'

CHARLESTON — According to the Madison High basketball team, it got a new member here Tuesday night. "Hey," said one Trojan, "ol' 'Mo-mumentum' got traded tonight."

The statement came after Madison had knocked off Fairfield 98-82 in the Eastern Illinois University Class A Supersectional game earning a trip to the state quarterfinals tomorrow in Champaign. Fairfield had gained some momentum with a string of upsets over Carmi, fourth-ranked Lawrenceville and Marshall in tournament play.

"We're ready now," said three-year starter James Heard. "When we first started out (in post-season play), there wasn't a whole lot of enthusiasm. But we get more every game. We're in high gear now."

Forward Kenny Stanley, who popped in 25 points against Fairfield on a bad knee said, "Things are starting to repeat themselves."

Stanley was referring to the fact that two years ago at this time, Madison was preparing for a trip to Champaign. It was a trip that would earn the Trojans the 1977 Class A (small school) state championship.

There are no heroes on this Madison team. The depth on the squad is astounding at times. When one player is having an off-night, there undoubtedly is another on the team who can take up the slack. "Man, are they ever deep," said Fairfield Coach Bill Garrett. "They go about seven or eight deep. I couldn't tell any difference between their starters and their subs."

and was in junior high the last time the Trojans went to Champaign, sophomore Morris Hughes.

Hughes scored 22 points and grabbed 12 rebounds (team-high) Tuesday. "I just hustle," he said. "There ain't really no secret to it. I just hustle and get there for the rebound."

The current Madison team is the fourth one to reach Champaign. The first Madison entry at the state meet was in 1952, before the advent of the Supersectional.

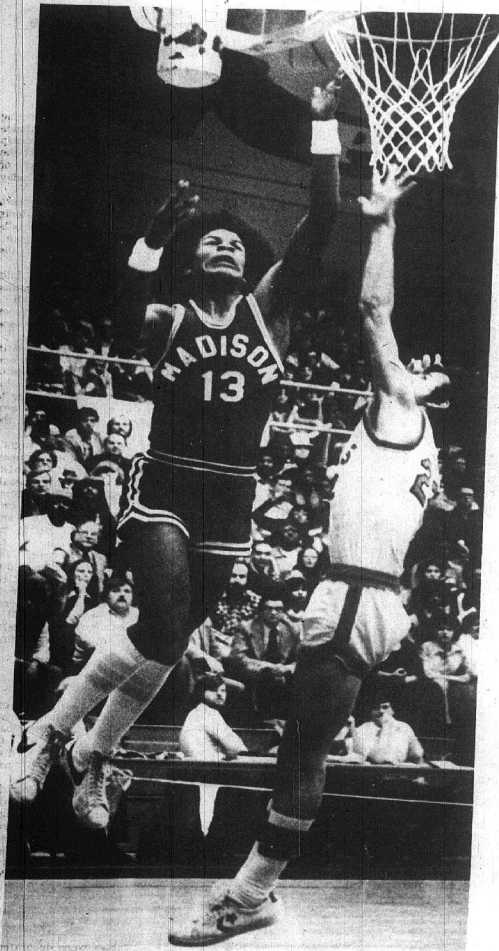

That year, with 16 teams participating in the state finals in old Huff Gymnasium at the University of Illinois, Madison was eliminated in the first round by Lawrenceville, 63-61. Lawrenceville was beaten in the next round by eventual champion Hebron 65-55.

In 1959, Madison made its second trip to Champaign after beating Centralia 55-49 in the Salem Supersectional. However, in the quarterfinals at Huff Gym, the Trojans were beaten by Waukegan 62-50. Waukegan went on to place fourth.

Madison's quarterfinal opponent Friday will be third-ranked (Associated Press) Havana. Madison is ranked fourth.

Should Madison win Friday, it will play the winner of the Carrier Mills-Riverton game Saturday at 12:15 in a semifinal contest. Carrier Mills Tuesday upset defending champ Nashville 50-48 in the Carbondale Supersectional.

South girls defeat North; Advance in regional action

COLLINSVILLE — The Granite City South girls basketball team defeated crosstown rival GCHS North here Tuesday night in the semifinals of the Collinsville Girls Basketball Regional tournament 44-37. It was the second time this season South had beaten North.

In the second game Tuesday, Collinsville blasted Edwardsville 57-33. The Lady Kahoks will face South tonight at 7:30 for the regional championship. South defeated Collinsville by eight points earlier in the season.

In a quarterfinal game played Monday, GCHS North blasted Civic Memorial Bethalto 46-39 to advance to Tuesday's game with South. South needed a strong first quarter to get by North Tuesday. The Warriors led 16-7 after the first quarter, but the Steelerettes leveled them even the rest of the way.

As usual, Chris Boyd led the South attack with 17 points. She was followed closely, however, by North's Leslee McIntyre with 14 points.

Kim Brombolich led the Collinsville attack against Edwardsville with 17 points. Monday against Bethalto, North kept the Eagles at bay most of the first half, before racing ahead 22-14 at halftime after outscoring Bethalto 14-3 in the second quarter.

North managed to hold off a late Bethalto surge which saw the Eagles narrow the margin to eight points in the fourth quarter.

Whelan All-American

COLUMBIA, Mo. — Granite Cityan Keith Whelan, a 1977 graduate of Granite City High School North, was named a NCAA All-American wrestler here recently.

Whelan, a wrestler for the University of Missouri-Columbia, placed in the top eight in his weight class in the recent NCAA tournament to gain the honor.

Whelan placed sixth in the nation at 126 pounds. He was unbeaten in the national meet until he faced Kevin Puelbia of Illinois in the quarterfinals. He then wrestled back, only to lose to Puelbia again, this time in the bout for fifth place.

Whelan's brother, freshman Kris, also participated in the meet, but did not place.

Havana advances

MACOMB — Havana High School advanced to the "Elite Eight" of the Class A basketball here Tuesday night with a 66-55 victory over Pittsfield in the Western Illinois University Supersectional.

The 29-0 Ducks were led by Roger King's 28 points and 16 rebounds. Havana is currently ranked third in the state by an Associated Press poll. Sportswriters and broadcasters. The Ducks will face 25-4 Madison in the first quarterfinal game Friday at the University of Illinois Assembly Hall in Champaign.

The most surprising Supersectional result came from Carbondale's SIU Arena where 14th-ranked Carrier Mills stunned second-ranked defending state champion Nashville 50-48.

With one second left in the game, Nashville guard Jim Dalman missed the front end of a one-and-one free throw situation which could have tied the game and sent it into overtime.

Look out, Havana Ducks!

CHARLESTON — The cry rang out from one side of Lantz Gymnasium. "Look out, Champaign!"

Put more precisely, it should have been, "Look out, Havana Ducks!" The Madison High School basketball Trojans used a strong second quarter outburst to defeat a feisty Fairfield squad 98-82 here Tuesday and in the process win the championship of the Charleston Eastern Illinois University Supersection for Class A (small) schools.

Madison will face highly-regarded Havana Friday afternoon at 12:15 in the first quarterfinal game of the tournament at the University of Illinois Assembly Hall in Champaign. The Trojans are now one of the "Elite Eight" in Illinois Class A basketball. But so are Havana's Ducks . . . that's right, Havana's team nickname is the Ducks.

Last season, the Ducks finished second in the state behind Nashville. And now they're back . . . with much of last year's lineup intact. But the Trojans aren't worried . . . TOO much, that is.

School record in 3-mile

Mike Baker exciting Illinois State coach

MIKE BAKER

By PETE HAYES

Sports Editor

BLOOMINGTON—A year ago at this time Mike Baker was getting ready to run his final season as a member of the Granite City North track team. Now he's a member of the squad at Illinois State University and has already left his mark on the program.

A school record in the three-mile run. Baker, a 1978 graduate of North High, was one of the state's premier distance runners in high school. He was recruited by many colleges and picked Illinois State. John Coughlin is glad he did.

Coughlin is the head cross country and track coach at ISU.

Saturday (Feb. 24), Baker set an Illinois State University school record in the indoor three-mile run at the Illinois Classic at the University of Illinois in Urbana. He ran the distance in a time of 13:52.0.

Baker finished sixth in the race, which was won by Steve Hosley of Bowling Green State University. But Coughlin wasn't a bit dismayed by that. He was elated about the school record.

"That was the first time we had even entered Mike in the three-mile," said Coughlin. "Setting a school record your first time out isn't bad."

The longer distances were

Baker's forte in high school. "I was about college level," "Obviously, he is a little stronger in the longer distances," said Coughlin. "But he's got a very wide range of distances he can compete well in."

Baker's grades at ISU? "Good," said Coughlin. "He's the type of kid who really wanted to go to college."

Mike hasn't had all the opportunities that a lot of our kids have had. He appreciates them that much more now that he's getting them here."

Coughlin said Baker has already demonstrated a sort of inborn confidence that makes him valuable to have around. "He's inwardly determined," he said. "It's almost as if he's checking himself."

"I think he gets emotionally ready for a race," Coughlin said. "It's just that he doesn't let it get away from him or take over too far in advance of the race."

"Mike's at his best when he's quiet."

Baker has shown Coughlin and the coaching staff at ISU that he came from a good high school coaching background. "Good high school coaching shows up in the intangibles," said Coughlin. He's willing to come to practice and work hard. He's willing to accept a challenge.

"Confidence is a great factor in running," said Coughlin. "But coaching is sometimes overlooked, too. A coach has a lot to do with it. He has to channel an athlete's God-given talents and get him ready for maximum effort."

Many high school "stars" come to college expecting to become instant celebrities. Such is not the case with Baker. According to Coughlin, the fact that he received a lot of ink in area newspapers while a high schooler hasn't affected him.

"There are a lot of 'prima donnas' who come to college and have their bubbles burst on them," he said. "But Mike isn't like that. He knows his limitations and that he's not being pushed."

Coughlin said Baker is coming along at a pace ideally suited to the ISU program. "We're only running him in one race a meet," said Coughlin. "The timing with a talented kid like him is very important."

Since he's just a freshman, we feel we can take our time with him and do a good job."

"Right now we (ISU) are beating some very good schools," said Coughlin. "Teams like Michigan State, Purdue. Many of the Big Ten schools. And we're doing it with freshmen and sophomores. That's an unbelievable pace."

Coughlin is trying to build up the cross country and track programs at Illinois State. He had a long and successful career as head track coach of Maine State High School in Chicago and he is in his second year at ISU.

"The think that impressed me most about Mike," said Coughlin, "was that he had a good year as a senior at the cross country while he was sick most of the time. (Baker has hayfever)."

"He still did pretty well in the state meet. I think that honestly, he was as good as any runner in the state last year."

Now Baker's getting a chance to show it even better.

Taylor was fouled by Kenny Stanley at 5:33 and made both ends of a two-shot free throw situation and presto-Fairfield was back within 12.

But within the next minute, something would happen that would make Madison's Graham worry over more. Kenny Stanley picked up his second and third personal fouls within five seconds of each other and was forced to the bench. Darryl Ewing hit a 16-foot baseline jumper at 5:06 to narrow the Madison lead to 10. Madison called a timeout.

Whatever Graham said in the timeout must have worked. Sophomore Trojan Morris Hughes took charge and scored four points during the next stretch and suddenly Madison had a 73-53 bulge.

In the last 1:21 of the period, Pike went wild again. He hit from the middle of the lane. He hit an 18-foot jumper. He took in a jump ball for a layup. That final basket narrowed the gap at the end of the period to 73-59. "Man they can come back," said Graham. "I wanted to keep Kenny (Stanley) out of there for as long as I could. But with the way they showed they would put the ball in the hole, I had to get him back in there."

But Madison didn't let the pressure get to itself. The Trojans outscored Fairfield in the fourth quarter 25-23. "They (Fairfield) have some shooters, don't they," said Graham. "That Pike is fearless. He's some kind of a ball player."

Fairfield's Garrett said Madison is the best Class A team his club has faced this season. "Up until now, it was Lawrenceville," he said. "But Madison is the best we've seen besides Olney."

Fairfield was able to rebound Madison 26-24, but most of that came from the first period. Late in the game, Eric Stanley of Madison, along with brother Kenny snared several key rebounds when Fairfield made its comeback attempt.

Graham praised Eric Stanley's game. "He's a good shooter," he said. "But tonight, he was perhaps as good as he's been all year from the field."

Eric Stanley ended the game with 12 points, several of them coming on long drives. He finished with 16 points, several of them coming on long drives. He finished with 16 points, several of them coming on long drives.

Series on 'Death, Dying—Challenge and Change'

Death, called humanity's most enduring mystery and most powerful taboo, is the subject of Courses by Newspaper's spring series that will be published in the Press-Record beginning next week.

Entitled "Death and Dying: Challenge and Change," the 15-part series focuses on the complex problems associated with death as a result of changes in society itself.

Course coordinator is Robert Fulton, professor of sociology and director of the Center for Death Education and Research, University of Minnesota, who has researched the sociology of death and the symptoms and management of grief.

Psychologists, sociologists and medical professionals are among the scholars who combine history and recent research findings to illuminate the modern American way of death.

Among the little-discussed issues probed are grief, euthanasia, life after death, the dying patient, widowhood and potential hope.

Series authors include: Robert Fulton; David Stannard, associate professor of American Studies, Yale University; Eric Markusen, Margard Fellow, Center for Death Education and Research, U. of Minnesota; Monroe Lerner, professor of sociology in health care, The Johns Hopkins University; Eric Cassell, physician and clinical professor of public health, Cornell University Medical College.

Also, Edgar Jackson, theologian and crisis psychologist, Corinth, Vermont; Avery Weisman, professor of psychiatry, Harvard Medical School; George E. Williams, associate professor of psychiatry, U. of Minnesota; Colin Murray Parkes, senior lecturer in psychiatry, The London Hospital Medical College; Helena Z. Lopata, director, Center for Comparative Study of Social Roles, Loyola University, Chicago.

And Vandylyn R. Pine, associate professor of sociology, State University of New York at New Paltz; Robert W. Veatch, senior associate, Hastings Center, Institute of Society, Ethics and the Life Sciences, New York; Edwin Shneidman, professor of thanatology, University of California at Los Angeles.

Surveillance question—'1984' may not be far away

Editor and Publisher magazine—Don't make any important phone calls from your office or your home. Use public telephones. Someone may want AT&T to tell them who you called.

Don't say anything important to anyone on the telephone from your office or your home. Someone may want to know what you said as well as who you called. A wiretap is possible.

Don't keep any records in your house or your office about who told you when, where and what. They can search your home.

Don't keep any records. Period. Destroy them. Don't let anyone tell you anything in confidence. You have no right to keep a secret.

This is the impact of recent Supreme Court decisions. It amounts to a potential of total surveillance of the press upon demand.

Does the public realize that if these things can be done to a newsman they can also be done to the ordinary citizen? Constant surveillance by the authorities! What authorities? Those who happen to be in power at any given moment. Who will it be next year?

If this sounds a little like Orwell's "Big Brother" of 1984 it's because he is already looking over our shoulder.

All of this is supposed to become palatable in the name of "law and order." Of course, no one is going to alter the average honest citizen, but the criminal mind must be able to pursue the government and its argument goes. Therefore, government must be able to secretly examine phone records, tap wires and search offices of newsmen.

The press has no rights not available to the average citizen so, conversely, the rights of the average citizen must be subjected to similar searches and seizure.

What are we coming to? Why has there been no public outcry against this drift to totalitarianism? We were "saved by the bell" from one imperial presidency that used these tactics. Another one could be more persistent and dangerous.

Thought control? When government agencies can examine your phone calls, search your offices, force you to reveal your sources and your confidential informants, and possibly examine your motives and thought processes in writing or saying what you did, we are there.

Angeles; Robert Jay Lifton, the Foundation and research professor of psychiatry, Yale University; and Robert Kastenbaum, superintendent, Cushing Hospital, Boston.

To enrich their reading of the course articles, individuals can purchase the specially prepared supplemental book entitled "Death and Dying: Challenge and Change" at the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville bookstore. The set of books related to the course costs a total of about $10.

Civic groups, service clubs, unions, religious and youth organizations, libraries and others may wish to form their own discussion groups based on the Courses by Newspaper series. And, of course, readers may review the articles informally, entirely on their own.

Participating in addition to the Press-Record are the Belleville News-Democrat, Alto Telegraph, Highland News Leader, O'Fallon Progress and Edwardsville Intelligencer.

The series will start the week of March 19 and end the week of June 25. Class sessions will start April 2 from 6:30 to 8:20 p.m. and will meet every other week in SIUE Peck Building, Room 3409.

These sessions will be used to explore and expand the thesis of the articles that appear in the newspapers. The course may be taken for credit (HUM 400—two to four hours) or non-credit.

The cost for credit (Illinois resident) is undergraduate $87.80, graduate $86.80; for non-credit, $15.

Courses by Newspaper was developed in 1973 by University Extension, University of California, San Diego, and is funded by the National Endowment for the Humanities.

This spring's series on "Death and Dying" is the tenth in a continuing series of educational features prepared by Courses by Newspaper.

Previous courses have been offered by more than 1,100 newspapers with combined circulations of 25 million readers. An estimated 45,000 newspaper readers have earned college credit through the program, offered by more than 700 educational institutions.

Partly noted that the district estimates that the four room complex will cost the $2,200 in materials to determine, plus an undetermined amount of labor. School district construction-maintenance employees are being used to do the work during time not devoted to the other tasks.

Asked if he felt paneling and wallpaper were necessary, at a time when funds are short, Heubner replied, "What is cheap and easy to do?"

Partney said plasterboard walls are cheaper.

Heubner said every board member was aware of the remodeling project and had been approving purchases for floor and ceiling tiles, wallpaper and other materials for several months, although no specific authorization from the board was sought for the work.

When we feel we have to put up a wall to separate two classrooms, we do not seek board approval. We just ask them to approve the purchase of materials. It is an administrative decision," Assistant Supt. Frank Kraus said.

Effective immediately and until further notice, all navigators are requested to reduce speed and control wake in the lower reaches of the River (miles 0.0 to 80.0).

Necessitated by a combination of high river stages and the "lethal status of the levee within this area," the St. Louis Engineer District said this week, adding,

"Cooperation in this matter is required during these periods of high river stages. Individuals who engage in or violate this warning will be reported to the U.S. Coast Guard, and they definitely jeopardize the navigability of the waterway to all users."

Quad-Cityans applaud the legislation and are convinced that, along with the 19th Street project, one or two more overpasses would come in mighty hands.

To the Editor:

I cannot understand why Mr. Portell, our present superintendent of streets, is not candid with the citizens of Granite City.

In his first paid political ad, printed in the Granite City Press-Record on March 8, 1979, he neglected to have printed who paid for the advertisement.

He states in this ad that he has a record-keeping system requiring no additional office employees. Let me give you a few of the reasons for this statement.

Each day, he gives his foremen a hand-written note or verbal instructions telling them what he wants his employees to do, whether it is cleaning a sewer line, patching or sweeping streets.

But there is no record kept of when this work was done, how long it took, or what the cost was in labor hours and material, or even the location of the assigned jobs.

He has numerous pieces of mobile equipment with no record of when each was last lubricated.

One of these units is new, purchased in the last year, and has not been lubricated—not even once.

He is presently trying to sell numerous pieces of equipment that will probably bring no more than scrap value, because he has failed to perform preventative maintenance or keep records on any of this equipment.

He also states that the department has TV monitoring equipment.

What he failed to tell was that they have two of these units, but only one is operable.

The other one, a trailer unit which was worth $35,000 is not operable. Parts have been taken off of it to keep the other one operating, and replacement parts have never been ordered.

It would probably cost $10,000 or more to put this unit back into operating condition. This is the lackadaisical way most of the equipment is maintained in the department.

I feel that the public, as well as the aldermen and the mayor, are being hoodwinked by the superintendent of streets.

What I am asking is that the news media, Teamsters Local 523, Laborers Local 397 officials, as well as the elected officials of Granite City, make an inspection of our Street Department immediately.

This department spends over $1,000,000 per year of the taxpayers' money and it should be operated like a million-dollar business.

The unsafe condition of the equipment he is allowing to operate on our city streets, that doesn't have adequate safety equipment on it, and the lack of records of any kind make your head spin and start you to wonder where all this money is going to each year—and whether you should have a change now before we get hoodwinked again.

I'll be amazed if it doesn't make you wonder: I will even challenge you to make a public apology to the superintendent of streets if I am wrong.

What the office he makes that his statement be effective, I agree with fully. The excuses he uses of blaming the mayor and City Council anytime he does not perform his duties is not acceptable to the public anymore, and he should quit.

What I am asking is that the news media, Teamsters Local 523, Laborers Local 397 officials, as well as the elected officials of Granite City, make an inspection of our Street Department immediately.

This department spends over $1,000,000 per year of the taxpayers' money and it should be operated like a million-dollar business.

passing the buck.

He is elected by the citizens; he presents a budget well over a million dollars each year to operate his department, and it is his job to operate within the budget just like any other large business.

Let's not forget about the lack of snow removal this last winter, and the flooding of homes and streets for the last eight years, because he failed to plan ahead and order salt or to maintain the sewers and lift stations.

This is his responsibility, not anyone else's.

So don't let this clean-up campaign going on now—much, by the way, was instigated by the mayor and city council, not our superintendent of streets, who should have been demanding this before the election, let you forget about the lack of results in the last eight years.

The citizens should be glad they will have a choice of candidates in the coming election.

I just hope each of them will give as deep thought and consideration before making their choice, as have before making my decision to support Clayton "Jug" Artman, an honest, hard-working man, for superintendent of streets.

Whatever your choice, citizens, I ask you to go to the polls and to support your candidate, for they will be representing you in snow, stormwater, sewerage, sidewalks and street problems for the next four years.

ARRESTED ON LOT AT GCHS NORTH
Carl E. Marler, 21, Edwardsville, was arrested Monday on the parking lot of Granite City High School North and was charged with disorderly conduct and not having a firearm owner identification card. He pleaded guilty and was fined a total of $175.

Police were told a man was in a car on the lot and had a gun in the car. Officers alleged finding a 9 millimeter automatic pistol and a clip containing six live rounds on the seat. An air gun with a dart in it also allegedly was found in the car.

Reports week-old robbery

Ronald Hotz, 2734 Center St., told police Monday afternoon that he had been robbed at gunpoint Sunday, March 4, by a young man who stole his car and forced him to sign the car's title.

Hotz said he was seated in a car with two friends, Danny Hartline and Kari Chism, when four young men approached, one jumped on the hood of Hotz's car and threatened to lock Hotz in the trunk of the car and to shoot him if Hotz did not give $400, it was reported.

The victim said he told the youth he did not have any money and the youth dragged him from his car into an old green auto, reached under the front seat to get a large-caliber automatic handgun and held the gun to Hotz's throat, repeating his demand.

Hotz said he again told the youth he had no money and the youth forced him back to Hotz's car at gunpoint, got in with a young woman and forced Hotz to drive them to Hotz's apartment. The youth's friends and another young woman followed in the green car.

At Hotz's apartment, the youth again demanded money and when told there was none, demanded the title to Hotz's car. Hotz gave him the title and was forced to sign it. The youth then demanded the car keys and forced Hotz to remove the license plates. The robber and the young woman drove away in Hotz's blue 1969 Dodge Charger, police were told.

Halts burglary

Tim Cavins at 7:30 p.m. Monday frightened would-be burglars from the home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Thea Elmore, 742 Twenty-seventh Place.

Cavins was passing the house and saw a suspicious white 1967 or 1968 Ford pickup truck with Missouri license plates in front of his mother-in-law's home, so he approached to investigate. The truck left east and he pulled into the home's driveway and heard glass breaking behind the home.

He ran to the rear of the house and saw a man, about 6-6 tall, 150 pounds, wearing a dark GPO jacket and blue jeans, run through the back yard, jump over the fence and jump into the back of the truck waiting at the end of the alley.

The truck backed out of the alley and left the scene. Cavins checked Mrs. Elmore's home and found the rear door had been forced from the frame.

Celebration by Delta Kappa Gamma

The 10th anniversary of the Madison County Coordinating Council of Delta Kappa Gamma Society International was celebrated during the weekend at a salad luncheon at the East Alton United Methodist Church.

Collinsville club to hear Miss Smith

The Collinsville Business and Professional Women's Club will have Miss Annellen Smith, Illinois Federation membership chairman, as guest speaker for its "membership night" tonight at 6:30. The dinner will be at St. John's United Church of Christ in Collinsville.

Miss Smith, a resident of Granite City, has been elected in BPW for a number of years, having served as president of the Granite City Club as well as holding various offices of District XIV, and serving as state convention co-chairman. Currently, she is completing her second term as state membership chairman.

She retired recently from the Department of the Army where, in the field of logistics and financial management, she held the position of systems analyst. Presently she is enjoying a second career, that of advertising counselor with Directions Unlimited of Fairview Heights.

The Collinsville Club will honor its new members and their sponsors at a reception following the meeting.

CONCERT FRIDAY

The Foggy River Boys of Brandon, Mo., a vocal group which presents a wide variety of musical selections, will appear at the Granite City Township Building, 2060 Delmar Ave., at 8 p.m. Friday. The appearance is sponsored by the Youth Fellowship of St. John United Church of Christ and tickets, costing $5 per person, will be available at the door.

Alpha Eta, Beta Eta and Gamma Epsilon chapter members observed the occasion. Martha Mooman of Alpha Eta offered the invocation before the luncheon.

Those who have served as president of the council during the past decade were invited to light a candle and place it on the birthday cake, with each candle representing the individual's two-year term of office. Chapter and council presidents were presented centerpieces from the luncheon tables.

Josephine O'Neil of Beta Eta, state president-elect, was given a special recognition when introduced by Helen Thatcher, Beta Eta president.

Plans for the 1979 state convention in Chicago and a regional convention in Dallas celebrating Delta Kappa Gamma's 50th anniversary were reviewed. Vera Jones accepted signatures from those expecting to attend the event. Members were invited to Mrs. Thatcher to join in a workshop Saturday in Roxana to make table decorations for the presidents' formal dinner at the state convention.

Entertainment was presented by the Downstaters, who gave a program entitled "Delta Kappa Gamma: Footsteps in the Sands of Time."

Written by Mrs. Birdene Groshong, the program was first performed last July at the state convention and traces the history of the organization from its establishment in 1929 to the present time.

Poems, songs and dances portrayed the different nations as they became part of Delta Kappa Gamma International.

Others responsible for the presentation were Sarah Carpenter, choreographer, Ida Lowery, director, and Valerie Stevens, accompanist. Helen Purkale of Madison is a member of the Downstaters group. Other attendees from the Quad-City area were Irene Cook, Sandra DeMoulin, Georgia Engelke, Carol Gendron, Anna Marie Harn, Mary Harper, Nelle Hart, Martha Jean Hayes, Ruth McCarty, Cleo Ulm, Marguerite Connolly and Mrs. Stevens.

Acting mayor hopes to leave a positive imprint

By PAT FOLEY
Press-Record Staff Writer
After numerous deadlock votes by the Venice City Council following the resignation of former Mayor William Ebersoldt effective Jan. 1, which left the selection of an acting mayor and his resignation, Phillip W. Daniels, the second acting mayor in as many months, is beginning to get the feel of the office he has filled.
He is using his time and energy to further his knowledge of the inner workings of the city.
Appointed an alderman of the First Ward on Dec. 18, Daniels has quickly moved to the top post in the city and would like to make some contributions during his short term, which will end after the April 17 citywide election.
Daniels, 27, born in Venice and a member of the volunteer fire department for the past six years, has seen the growth and accomplishments of the city and thinks he has something to offer to its citizens.
Revenue, the lack of and the encouragement of, is the most pressing topic on his mind.
He believes that through encouraging small businesses to locate in the city, and re-evaluating the city budget and in particular, individual department budgets—the present revenue of the city can be used to its fullest potential and that a larger tax base can be established while not increasing taxes.
Having taught government, civics, economics and sociology at Venice High School for three years, he has developed a firm foundation on which to analyze the problems of the city and try to do something about them.
Reduction of unneeded job slots through attrition is one possible way to cut some of the departmental budgets, he believes. Some of the jobs once needed are now questionable, since the population of the city has decreased substantially, and this has decreased the number of people receiving services.
When a retirement or death occurs or even when an employee is lost due to other job offers, an evaluation of the job position would determine if there is a need for it to be filled again or to do something about them.
Daniels also believes that government grants and monies are "there for the asking. You just have to ask."

9. That is shall be unlawful for any firm, person or corporation to load or unload within the harbor of the Tri-City Regional Port District and/or its floating areas any barge declared dangerous by the Port District without the approval and authorization of the Port District unless in the opinion of the U.S. Coast Guard or the Army Corps of Engineers the removal of said cargo from said barge is necessary to prevent the discharge of said cargo into a navigable water within the Port District.
10. That any person, firm or corporation violating the provisions of the Ordinance shall be subject to a fine of Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00) per day for each day said violation continues.
11. That all Ordinances or Ordinances in conflict herewith are hereby repealed and this Ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.
PASSED by the Board of the Tri-City Regional Port District this 12th day of March 1979.
APPROVED by the Chairman of the Board of the Tri-City Regional Port District this 12th day of March 1979.

Ill. Power stock plan

Illinois Power Company on Friday announced plans to file a registration statement with the Securities and Exchange Commission covering a public offering of 3,000,000 shares of its common stock. The offering is expected to be made on or about April 18.

Net proceeds from sale of the common stock will be added to the company's general funds through reimbursement of its treasury for capital expenditures already made. Funds will be used to repay outstanding short-term borrowings, and the remainder used for new constructions.

CAR DOOR CLOSED ON YOUNG WOMAN

Julie Coy, 17, of 2724 Harvey Place, Apt. 3, suffered two broken bones in her left arm, a bruise to her left ear and a knot on her neck when a teenage boy kicked a car door and it closed on her on Maryville Road at Woodlawn Avenue last week.

Miss Coy was driving her father's car toward GCHS North when she saw a young man she knew walking to the schools. She offered the 17-year-old a ride but he kicked the door as she was getting into the driver's side, causing it to slam on her arm. He then walked away and she drove to seek treatment at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

High river levels

The season for high river stages or open river conditions, which develop quickly on the Mississippi River, has arrived early this year.

"Along with the high river stages and open river conditions, we are also experiencing floating ice conditions on the Mississippi River," James A. Peterman, chief, Operations Division, St. Louis District, Army Corps of Engineers, said during the weekend.

"In the event of open river conditions, strong cross currents exist above and below Lock No. 24, Clarksville, Mo., Lock No. 25, Winfield, Mo., and Locks No. 26, Alton. Particular attention should be paid to the upper approaches where strong currents set toward the dam.

"Serious damage to dam tainter gates or lock miter gates from barge collisions could easily cause loss of the pool, thereby jeopardizing all navigation in the upper Mississippi River for an indefinite period.

"Pilots and operators of vessels navigating the above reaches are requested to exercise the utmost caution and have their tow under complete control at all times.

"Lockages at locks in the St. Louis District will be governed by Section 207.300, Chapter II, Title 33, Code of Federal Regulations. The latest edition of these regulations may be obtained from any lock in this District or from this office upon request.

"Section 207.300, subparagraph (v) (4) describes the display of signals when a set-in current condition exists at the upper approaches to the locks and reads in part as follows: . . . this fact will be indicated by displaying a circular disk five feet in diameter, on or near the light support on the upstream end of the land (guide) wall during the hours of daylight and will be indicated during hours of darkness by displaying a white (amber) light vertically under and five feet below the red light on the upstream end of the land (guide) wall."

2 alternate Venice school cost cut plans

By VALERIE EVENEDEN

Press-Record Staff Writer
Two staff cutback plans that could be followed in an effort to reduce expenses were proposed at Thursday night's meeting of the Venice Board of Education.

Both plans were discussed at length, but neither was given the stamp of approval by the board, which agreed to withhold a decision until the March 22 meeting or in early April.

Implementing one plan could save the district about $106,534, while the alternate proposal could affect a saving of $96,000, the board was advised.

Supt. of Schools Robert N. Vickers was authorized, however, to send notices of honorable dismissal to 41 teachers who have less than 15 years of service in the district.

Sending notices of dismissal would be a practice followed in other years, the administrator said, although only those district personnel with less than nine years of service were involved last year.

"If someone should give us $1 million, or if the financial picture would change in some other way, we can always rescind the dismissal notices," Supt. Vickers said.

The board voted unanimously to set the 15-year cutoff level as a measure to protect the district in the event deeper cuts may be needed than those currently contemplated, it was noted.

The superintendent said he has learned there are teachers in the Venice district already looking elsewhere for employment. "This, too, could affect the teachers and staff members receiving dismissal notices, should those looking for other jobs resign later in the year," he said.

Initially, the Venice board discussed dropping one teacher in each grade level from fourth through eighth, a total of five teachers that could save the district about $70,000.

This proposal, however, would increase class size to between 30 and 40 pupils, or an average of 44 pupils per class.

Current class sizes in Venice average 25 students. Plan One, as proposed by Supt. Vickers at Thursday night's meeting, is less harsh and would result in average class sizes of 31 to 33 pupils, which is much more acceptable, he said.

He recommended combining some fifth and sixth grade students into one class and some seventh and eighth grade pupils into another class, while keeping one class each in the fourth through eighth grade levels.

Under this proposal, the elementary principal would be retained but would be utilized in relieving a teacher who also would instruct in high school art.

Three grade school teachers, a music and band teacher, a special education teacher, a daytime custodial staff member and a clerical worker would be eliminated.

A home economics teacher, who is retiring, probably would not be replaced.

The second plan proposed to the board basically is the same in regard to combining two classes each of fifth and sixth and seventh and eighth grade pupils, but eliminating the position of elementary school principal and an additional teacher.

Because of seniority rights, dismissal of one of the teachers may leave the high school without an art instructor, which could jeopardize accreditation for the school, Supt. Vickers said.

The administrator recommended the board cut expenses by $100,000 for the next school year and notify remaining teachers of their tentative assignments in 1979-80 by May 30.

The number of uncertainties involved will make it almost impossible to make precise and early decisions along these lines, he commented.

Even if Title VII program not be funded next year, this would create further problems, Supt. Vickers said, noting that teachers in Title VII with high seniority would be retained elsewhere, bumping others.

"Even if Title VII is funded, but the district does not receive notification earlier than it did for this year, we will have the same staff problems we faced before," he said.

Title VII money for programs at Venice-Lincoln Technical Center still is available through Sept. 30, 1979, he said.

The Venice district has submitted a Title VIC project application for $174,000, which could help significantly if approved, by allowing some staff members to be placed in this program. The program involves language improvement.

"We hope we may know the status of this request before the end of the current school year," the administrator said.

Burglar nets $2,219 in loot

Tires, radio equipment and other items, totaling $2,219 in value, were taken in a burglary reported Thursday at Stamp's Sewer and Pipe Cleaning Co., 1501 Grand Ave. A glass pane in an overhead door was smashed to gain access to the building.

A two-way radio valued at $900 was removed from a pickup truck and a portable television set worth $249 was taken from a vehicle by breaking a sliding glass window. Both vehicles were inside the building.

Six radial truck tires, worth $1,070, and a red toolbox and assorted tools, for which no value was listed, also were stolen.

SIU to honor Monroe

The executive director of the State Universities Retirement System of Illinois and two area business and professional men have been designated by the Southern Illinois University Board of Trustees to receive distinguished service awards at SIU at Edwardsville.

Recommended to the board by the university committee for honorary degrees and distinguished service awards and by the president of SIUE, the three men to be honored are: Edward S. Gibala, who has directed the State Universities Retirement System of Illinois for many years; C. Kenneth Anderson of Highland, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of Artex International, Inc.; and Karl L. Monroe, editor of the Collinsville Herald, a Post Corporation newspaper.

Gibala will receive his award at SIUE's annual service awards banquet April 23.

Awards will be presented to Anderson and Monroe at the June 8 commencement at the local university.

"When Karl Monroe assumed the editorship of the Collinsville Herald in 1946, he began to assert the brand of community concern and leadership that has characterized one of the most distinguished careers in journalism in the history of Illinois," a university spokesman said Thursday. Monroe has served as president of the Illinois Press Association and as a director and president of the International Society of Weekly Newspaper Editors. He has also served as president of the Southern Illinois Editorial Association.

In 1969, Monroe was honored as Illinois Editor of the Year and seven years later was named Illinois Journalist of the Year.

According to university officials, Monroe has pursued an active interest in the growth and development of SIUE from the time the local campus was first proposed.

He initially contributed to the campaign for the acquisition of land for the campus, editorially supporting the campaign and every capital development proposal since.

In their recommendation to the board, officers said, "Karl Monroe supports the growth and maturity of the university in the most open and honest manner possible. When his help was needed, he was there.

"When he sensed that the institution was taking a wrong turn, he offered considerable, reasonable criticism. His judgment has always been principled, intellectually acute, and public spirited."

University officers said the newspaper editor also has given the activities of the university generous coverage in the columns of the Herald.

He has offered his paper as a vehicle for strengthening public support for the university, and generally making the community more aware and appreciative of the values of higher education," they said.

Leaves of absence were granted to Albert Bell, custodian at South, from Feb. 19 to Aug. 1, and Doris Stark, social worker, from Feb. 22 to April 23.

Bob Pates was hired as a campus monitor at South High, and the members approved a recommendation that a boy be expelled from riding the school bus but continue attending school. On a recommendation from Harold Hillmer, the board established negotiating teams for certificated personnel to include Frank Krause, Gerald Brown, Mike Sikora, Warren Collins, Hillmer and Monroe Worthen, and Dewey Melton as alternates.

For non-certificated personnel, the team will be Gerald Brown, Ron Lindman, Ken Spalding, Harry Briggs, Hillmer and Tom Miodsky, and Norman Hall as alternates.

rate of 5 1/2 percent.

Approval was given to accept authorized volunteer persons in the district, on recommendation by Merna M. Musterman, gifted program coordinator. Mrs. Connie Cornelison was listed as a volunteer at Namecki School and through the Retired Senior Volunteer Program, the board accepted the services of Dorothy Conreux, Alma Irvin and Gracie Morgan.

Simon convinced Stevenson won't seek re-election

(Press-Record Washington Bureau)
Cong. Paul Simon, D-Carbondale, can be added to the list of those now convinced Sen. Adlai Stevenson, D-Ill., does not plan to seek re-election.

Only about a month ago, Simon felt Sen. Stevenson was just temporarily "down in the dumps" and probably would run for re-election, a not uncommon sentiment at that time.

Despite the increasing signs that Stevenson will not seek re-election in 1980, Simon's personal plans have not changed.

If Stevenson does not run, Simon says Secretary of State Alan Dixon is still his first choice for the job.

Only if Dixon does not run for the Senate would Simon consider a try for the Senate nomination. He is not changing at the bit to give up a safe House seat for a risky gamble in a statewide race.

State flood emergency

Governor James R. Thompson declared the State of Illinois a disaster emergency Friday due to extensive flooding and predictions of more flooding to come.

"My concerns are not only for localized flooding that has already occurred, but also for the predicted record flooding that is to occur," Thompson said in issuing the proclamation.

It permits the state, individuals, businesses and units of local government to apply for federal assistance, and it also allows the state to provide resources, including manpower, to areas that need help.

The governor issued the proclamation while inspecting flood areas in western and northeastern Illinois. He visited Milan and Moline in Rock Island County and then Kankakee, where he toured the Kankakee River basin, Mokena and Waukegan.

Revise phone take-save plan

Illinois Bell telephone customers who move and take their telephone sets with them to their new address will now receive additional credit for taking more than one phone, under a revised "take and save" plan.

Customers will receive $5 billing credit for the first set taken to their new address and $3 credit for each additional set. Previously, they were credited only $5 regardless of the number of sets taken along.

In order to obtain the credit, customers are required to take every eligible instrument with them when they move. If any eligible telephone is left behind, no credit will be given for any phone.

Eligible telephones under the plan include all portable residence phones, residence desk-type non-button and one-button phones, and Triline wall telephones. Certain sets are excluded, such as panel and standard wallphones.

Illinois Bell advises customers who are moving to call their business office to determine whether their instruments are eligible for the credit and how to return the phones to the company. Customers discontinuing service or moving out of Illinois Bell territory may also turn in their instruments at Illinois Bell public offices or PhoneCenter Stores to receive the new credit.

The allowance will be in the form of a billing credit only, and may be applied only to the account associated with the disconnected instruments.

Venice board fires teacher

A Venice High School teacher was dismissed by the Board of Education in action taken at Thursday night's meeting.

The teacher's name and reason for the dismissal were not released pending a further hearing, if requested.

Supt. of Schools Robert Vickers said the teacher must notify the board within 10 days if the individual does not want a hearing scheduled.

Should the board not receive notification, a hearing must be set 30 to 60 days from now, with a state-appointed hearing officer in charge.

Boker top employee

Thomas R. Boker, a former key athlete at Granite City High School South, has been selected the top employee at Baskin-Robbins 31 Ice Cream store, 4 American Village Shopping Center, in the first International Championship Awards campaign to be sponsored by the company.

Robert L. and Rebecca M. Jones, store owners, said Boker was elected by fellow employees on the basis of exceptional service to customers, personal attitude, overall team spirit and other considerations, such as dedication to school and community service.

The international program will honor more than 2,000 top employees throughout the world this year, giving them recognition and honors as Baskin-Robbins' most outstanding employees.

Each store-level winner is honored as a member of the Baskin-Robbins all-star team and becomes eligible for additional honors and awards.

The Granite City store has been cited for playing a "significant role in contributions to the development of youth."

"Many of our employees are young people who have their first real experience in business with us," Jones said.

"Our experience over the years has given us the ability to work with our people to give them a strong foundation for career development," he added.

"Their abilities in serving the customer, store operations and management, merchandising, selling and promotion are an essential part of our business."

Boker is in contention for district-level honors, leading to the selection of 75 outstanding company employees throughout the world.

The highest level of honor will be the naming of a "Baskin-Robbins International Gold Medal Team."

Boker's career at South High primarily focused on tennis.
